

Daughter of Abortion Activist Charged with Murder in Beating Death of 3-Year Old

[Note: Kermit Gosnell's son, Baron Alexander, faces a hearing today for a robbery during which he was shot multiple times. Meanwhile in Kansas, another child of a long-time abortion activist, who worked with late-term abortionist George Tiller, has been charged with First Degree Murder in the beating death of her 3-year old daughter, Emma Jean Krueger. These two incidents involving the children of those involved in the abortion industry give us incentive ponder the vast impact of abortion and to pray for those who grow up immersed in the Culture of Death. Below is a story from a local pro-life leader about the tragic Krueger murder case. –OR Staff]

ProAbortion Connection to the Krueger Child Murder

By Mark S. Gietzen, President, Kansas Coalition for Life

Wichita, KS (June 14, 2014)– The late Paul Harvey used to say: “Ah, but here is the rest of the story!”

If you live in Wichita, Kansas, and paid any attention to the local news, you would know all about the abuse and eventual murder of a beautiful 3-year old child named, Emma Jean Krueger.

The parents of this child are now in jail, charged with 1st Degree Murder. What you may not know, however, is that this murdered child is the granddaughter of the late Candy Krueger, a once vile and mean-spirited proAbortion escort (deathscort) who died in 2005, at the age of 51, most likely from suicide. (Candy's cause of death has never been published to my knowledge. However, within a month prior to her death, Candy had repeatedly mentioned suicide in her arguments and verbal exchanges with proLife volunteers, in ways that made it clear that she was thinking about suicide.)

Emma Jean Krueger, 3, as she appeared in her sad obituary.

Candy was more than just another proAbortion person in Wichita; she was the organizer, and the one who motivated other hate-filled abortion escorts who were as regular as the proLife people, at showing up at every imaginable event prior to her 2005 death. The only thing that Candy had in common with the proLife volunteers in Wichita was that she was always trying to convert others to her way of thinking.

Candy 'enjoyed' and even 'celebrated' abortion. She seemed to be personally invested in each abortion-death that she was involved in. I never understood what drove Candy to do what she did, or why she would say the nasty things that she would spew at the proLife sidewalk counselors. It was certainly more than just money that motivated her.

In addition to being at the gate of the Tiller Abortion facility, Candy regularly taunted the proLife sidewalk counselors at the Central Street Abortion Mill, prior to that building becoming the headquarters for Operation Rescue.

At some events, Candy would have her child, Monica Krueger, with her, just as Julie Burkhart, the current owner of the South Wind Abortion Facility, which operates out of the old Tiller Late-Term Abortion building, had her 15-year old daughter with her this past week, as she went about her business of killing innocent unborn babies.

Candy Krueger and Julie Burkhart were partners and close acquaintances during the Tiller years, up until Candy's death in 2005. Since Candy Krueger's death, the proAbortion escort group in Wichita has not amounted to a hill-of-beans... in comparison to what they once were.

Now, Candy is gone and her daughter, Monica Krueger, sits in jail along with her boyfriend, both charged with 1st Degree Murder of their beautiful 3-year old child.

The written law and the legal system will judge Monica as if she had the same upbringing as a normal person, and that is as it must be.

However, I wonder if a child raised by someone like Candy Krueger really has a fair chance at a normal life...

Does it take a village to kill a child?

The group, Bikers Against Child Abuse, was at the funeral today for the 3-Year old Emma Jean Krueger. They were there to call attention to the tragedy of child abuse, in the hope that it will not happen again. I applaud them for taking positive action. However, while doing so, I wonder how many of them know why Monica Krueger may have different values and ideas about the rights and worth of a child?

What is abortion... if not the most extreme example of child abuse?

If you were raised by parents who loved you, and taught you to love and value all human life, then please take a few minutes today to thank God for that!

In any case, please say a prayer for Monica Krueger, and for her deceased mother and daughter. Life is not fair for everyone. No one ever claimed that it would be. Here is the sad obituary:

I had heard at the time of Candy Krueger's death in 2005 that she died of a sudden brain aneurysm. This is similar to the way George Gardner, Tiller's abortion chaplain, died of a brain tumor, only it took him longer to die. Also the death of longtime deathscort Rex Blair, who died of a disease that ate his flesh. I believe God took them out.

I attended Emma Krueger's funeral last Saturday at Central Community Church. I was recognized by my name on the guest sign in register and by pro-aborts who identified me by sight as a pro-lifer. One of the Krueger family supporters came with two bikers to where I was sitting in the pews 5 minutes prior to the start of the funeral service, asked me my name and told me "you'll have to leave, you're not welcome here." I got up and left. The pro-abortion legacy continues with the Krueger family, they are still rejecting a pro-life witness and presence. I was able to bring home Emma's funeral program with her photo in it to remember her by. Keep praying and let God deal with them. We will see how the murder trial comes out.

The little girl is in heaven. You will see her there. The rest of the family, maybe not. This is a sad story.

How sad and tragic to lose this baby girl. The 1 positive in all this is that her abuse has ended and she now is held by Jesus.

Only a total imbecile would ignore the absolute connection between the culture of death her mother was raised in and the post birth abortion IE murder that took place.

If she was raised to be a pro-abort and she didn't want the child, why didn't she have an abortion when she was pregnant? Maybe abortion isn't a personal enough violence for her. Maybe she wanted something a little more face to face.

So, very dark, so very evil. I was not raised by parents who valued me, but was abandoned, neglected and abused. However, Jesus sought me out and saved me even after I had two abortions. After being born again, the sorrow from this sin was a heavy weight as I realized what I had actually done. All people have the same choice to look up and seek the face of God. To choose hatred and death instead leads to a miserable life indeed. So very sad.

For those who have no regard for unborn life, we can keep expecting this type of behavior. If they have no regard for the tiniest of innocents, they have no regard for any life but their own.
